The Beatles' Stories

The Beatles are still today considered to be the world's greatest band. Popular music today is constantly changing to meet the demands of an ever-younger market. However, in the 1960's the musical choices were determined by the entertainment industry that was run by an older generation. The music enjoyed by The Beatles and their contemporaries was the music of their parents, songs from Hollywood musicals, music from variety shows and music halls, ballads, big band sounds and novelty songs.
